

The red... riding hood

- Once upon a time, a sweet girl called Hood was walking in a wood and... Why are you here?! You must be in the ...

- I'm a sweet girl so I do what I want! Please continue.

- So, Hood was doing what she wanted to do. Later, she decided to pay a visit to her grand-mother and give her a beautiful tart...

- No! I hate tarts, I'll give her a chocolate cake.

- Please stop it now.

In the mean time, at grandma's house, a very very bad wolf wanted to eat her, so he entered with a delivery jacket and delivered her a cane to help...

- Young boy! You have to respect me, I'm not old, I'm only a hundred!

- I'm sorry, but it was written in the script and...

- And what?! I ignore the script, I don't care about it!

- OK. Sorry, grandma

So, when the wolf entered the house, he ate the old... sorry, the young grandmother. Then he heard Hood coming, so he jumped into the bed as the Hood entered:

- Yo grandma! What's up?! I'm here to give you a chocolate cake.

- Hey! What are you doing?! It wasn't in the script! You have to ask me about my teeth and my eyes,

- Whatever! I don't want to ask you about that!

So, grandma, What big eyes!

- It's to see you better, Hood

- What a big mouth!

- It's to kiss you better, Hood

- What big teeth!

- It's to eat you better, sweet meal!

- And the wolf got out of the bed to eat Hood, But she fought him and she... gave him a kiss? Why are you doing that?!

- We don't like the story and we wanted to change it,

- We'll have a big wedding and everybody will be invited: you, the writer, the readers...

- Three months later, the biggest wedding of any time was organized, she and her husband got married and lived happily ever after.

- And the author of this story, wanted to say that the only limit to creation is your imagination!

- Thanks but I want to finish this story!

- This is my story and I do what I want!

And it never ended...
